And there is always FRAPS when I am using bootcamp to run Windows 7 So that works there.. Popular free Alternatives to Fraps for Windows, Linux, Mac, Web, Chrome and more.. IIRC fraps offers the option to capture the video on half the resolution, while the Mac's WoW client can capture video in any desired resolution no matter the actual resolution that WoW runs (funny enough, Windows WoW client does not have capturing at all).. That looks like a real nice app with some cool editing features as well User comments about it seem to be very positive on the App Store too.

As for FPS counting, I'll just have to go with games that offer it for my informal testing which was all I really wanted it for..
